I have not heard from you today, notwithstanding your pledge to Judge Ellerin and your statement to me at 11:45 am that you were "close to wrapping this up," that you had "just one more call to make," and that you would revert to me today by close of business. The inference I draw is that your clients are unwilling to settle this matter. If that is the case, the courtesy of a call, as promised, would have been in order, but I suppose we will simply have to proceed without one.

Marc --

I am glad we talked yesterday, and I fully credit that your representations about the resolution are bona fide. I know you to be a man of your word, and I know that when you tell me, as you have several times, that this is getting this done at the judge's number, that's what you are going to do. That said, the time has come to close this before things start to happen that cannot be undone. I have a client to whom I have made certain ccommitments, and she is in a place in her life where she needs to move forward one way or the other. We have been incredibly patient and we will wait another day as yet a further courtesy to you. But the time has come for this to happen in the way you've promised. Let's confirm our clients' agreement to the judge's proposal by email, so we can quickly focus on getting a written agreement done, signed and dusted.

best,
Andy

Elizabeth,

It will probably be easiest if you circulate any edits you have in redline in the first instance so it can be socialized among the necessary parties. We will send as soon as we can.

Paul-

I have to leave at 5 pm today, so please send the redline now so that I can go over it with my client before leaving. We need to finalize this today, and I much prefer to go over the initial draft while still in the office. We can then discuss any concerns with my edits this evening when I am home. As you know, my cell is 718-288-2805. Thanks.
